Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 15 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Further heavy showers with a risk of thunder in places.

This Evening and Tonight:
Heavy showers and thunderstorms across southern UK easing, but some showers persisting through the night, and becoming more widespread across the south-west again later. Cloudier further north with some rain or showers, but also clear spells in central Scotland.

Sunday:
Cloudy in the far north with some drizzle, else another day of sunshine and showers, these heavy in places with a risk of hail and thunder, particularly in central areas.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Showers Monday and Tuesday; risk of hail and thunder at first. Cloudier in the north with rain Tuesday. Many areas drier Wednesday, with only a scattering of showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.